

Lyvennet Community Pub

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING 2016

Director Biographies

Stephen Holroyd

I am a retired solicitor and I have always been an enthusiastic supporter of the the Butchers Arms.

I helped with the many legal issues that LCP (and LCT) had to face during their critical early and formative years.

As an active supporter of local community events, I recognised the importance of the pub as a community resource from the outset. I was involved in the original renovations and various subsequent improvement projects.

I have met visitors from other communities whose pubs were also threatened, who were keen to learn from the Butcher's experience and to emulate our success.

As a photographer I have also contributed publicity materials to LCP, LCT and other local ventures

Above all, I enjoy the company of others and have always believed in putting something back into the community. It was important to save the pub as a vital local amenity and it should never be taken for granted.

I believe that an important role of the directors is to provide constructive support to the tenants whenever required.

As a director I will continue to work enthusiastically to maintain and enhance this valuable community asset.

Cameron Smith

Cameron is a Director of a national forestry contracting company specializing in timber harvesting & marketing. He has accountability for a turnover of £25 million and responsibility for around 50 staff. He has extensive experience of producing and working to budgets, financial control and current health and safety legislation.

He has acted as LCP treasurer since its inauguration in 2011 & also acts as treasurer for the Lyvennet Community Trust whose principle objective is the provision of affordable housing in the parish.
